FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Milliman adds Holzer Health System as retirement services client

Milliman will provide defined contribution services for the healthcare system, comprising 160 providers and 2,400 employees

Seattle – April 20th, 2017 – Milliman, Inc., a premier global consulting and actuarial firm, today announced it has added Holzer Health System as a defined contribution client. Holzer Health System is a multi-discipline healthcare system with more than 160 providers and 2,400 employees providing services in over 30 areas of expertise from 15 locations throughout Ohio and western West Virginia.

"We chose Milliman for their reputation of being a trusted service provider who values commitment to client service. In addition to service, the website is user friendly and includes robust tools to assist participants in planning for retirement. Partnership with providers is a critical decision, and Milliman's unique ability to design services and systems to meet the needs of all our retirement plan participants was a strong factor in our decision making," says Lisa Halley, vice president of human resources.

Milliman will provide recordkeeping, administration, communications, and compliance services for the Holzer Health System 401(a), 403(b) and 457(b) plans. The Robertson Group at Morgan Stanley headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, is the independent co-fiduciary investment advisor providing consulting services and participant education for the plans.

"We look forward to an enduring relationship with Holzer Health System, and we are honored they selected us. At Milliman, our focus is to provide superior service and value which exceeds our client's expectations. We believe that strong service and a commitment to the industry is what most plan sponsors want and need," states Gerald Erickson, principal and senior consultant at Milliman.
